

Decision Robustness Under Variance

A Replicable Governance Instrumentation Framework for AI-Assisted Decisions

Decision Robustness Under Variance

A Replicable Governance Instrumentation Framework for AI-Assisted Decisions

1. Executive Abstract

AI systems are increasingly embedded in high-stakes decision environments across finance, government, and risk underwriting. While much attention has been placed on model accuracy, explainability, and ethical alignment, recent failures indicate a different dominant risk: decision fragility under changing conditions.

... (the rest of the paper continues here, truncated for brevity)